

COACHING for LEADERS

Pro Membership

Coaching for Leaders Pro supports members in creating regular connection with other leaders, discovering real-time advice from experts, and surfacing practical wisdom.

Overview

Pro members are listeners of the Coaching for Leaders podcast, the #1 search result for management in the United States on Apple Podcasts. The show has aired weekly since 2011 and attracted over 40 million downloads.

Membership Benefits

Pro members receive four key benefits from membership:

Private Discussion

All Pro members receive full access into an online, private platform for real-time discussions — to support each other with help, celebrate wins, share practical tips and ideas, and discuss expert interviews heard on the podcast. This private platform is hosted with Mighty Networks, the leading membership portal, available on every modern device.

Idea Circles

Our Pro members have extensive experience in leadership across industries. Dave Stachowiak regularly studies the input received from listeners and surfaces the past podcast episodes we need to revisit.

each month, we meet in for 30 minutes to discuss how to bring that expert's advice into our work. Examples of recent topics include:

- How to Use AI Better at Work
- How to Do Accountability Better
- Getting Traction on LinkedIn
- How to Make Sense to Others
- Play to Your Strengths on Scheduling

Members learn in real-time how other leaders are using what they've discovered from the podcast -- and build relationships with others leaders across industry who also care deeply about great leadership.

Expert Chats

You may have attended online classes before. Often, they feature videos from an expert that get to watch and learn from. They're great — but they're generally only one way communication.

Once a month, we turn the tables and have our members ask questions to expert guests live online — people who've appeared as guests on the Coaching for Leaders podcast.

Prior to the event, members may volunteer to serve as panelists and they'll join live on videoconference to ask questions on behalf of everyone. All members are invited to join in view-only mode and submit questions to the panel. The panel curates questions and poses the best questions to the guest expert.

Ask Dave Anything

Sometimes it's just helpful to talk something through. Once a month, Dave Stachowiak opens up a full hour to respond to questions live from members.

Any question is fair game for Dave: a current situation at work, questions about the podcast, Dave's own experience, how Bonni and him balance work and parenting -- whatever is on the mind of our members.

Dave responds live to questions from members on a first come, first serve basis throughout the hour. Members can join in and ask a question -- or simply listen in on the conversation.

Guidelines

Pro members matriculate from the Coaching for Leaders listening community, a top management show on Apple Podcasts. Applicants to Coaching for Leaders Pro agree to the following:

Kindness

Our community is a safe place for all of us to ask for help, share ideas, and get better. Perspective, experiences, and different opinions are welcome and part of the value we receive from this space. When members offer an idea or suggestion, they are asked to do it with kindness and grace.

Confidentiality

In order for members to best help each other, it's sometimes prudent to share information about careers, colleagues, or organizations. As a result, all members are expected to keep conversations in our community confidential.

No Self-Promotion

Our members seek the experiences, wisdom, and objective perspective from other leaders. Many of us regularly recommend books, organizations, and services to each other that will help support our goals.

While resource sharing is welcome and encouraged, self-promotion is not. Members are asked to refrain from promoting any organizations, products, or services they have a personal or financial interest in.

Selection

Applications to Coaching for Leaders Pro are reviewed personally by Dave Stachowiak and selected based on their goals for membership, desire to contribute to the professional relationships of other members, and alignment with community guidelines.
